

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A projection optical system of an exposure device controls spherical aberrations in optical elements by providing optical elements with an aspherical surface shape corrected in accordance with a non-even function $Z = g(h)$ having a derivative that becomes zero on a rotation axis of the aspheric surface.